Dave and Carolyn Hamer share a vision for a better future for America. It is not a political vision or agenda, but a spiritual one. They have been called by God to encourage the Church of Jesus Christ to rally in combined prayer for the heart and soul of our nation. The Hamers have a compelling message and practical insights to make prayer a spiritual force that can change the destiny of a city, state or nation. Combating the lethargic praylessness of the modern American church, the Hamers stir their listeners to participate once again in the one activity that can truly make a difference in an individual or a nation. Expect to be challenged and changed.

As the presidential election rapidly approaches, the stage is being set for the direction America will head in the future. If you've felt the restless call to prayer, or have a concern for the direction America is headed, you need to attend these meetings.
